

THE YELLOW SUBMARINE × THE FOURTH AXIS

INTERNSHIP FINAL REPORT

Social Media Marketing Internship

SUBMITTED BY:	Indranil Majumder
ROLE:	Social Media Marketing Intern
DURATION:	3 Months 2025
INSTITUTION:	JAGSOM – Jagdish Sheth School of Management
PROGRAMME:	PGDM (Marketing), 2024–26 Batch

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1	Executive Summary
2	Company Overview – The Yellow Submarine
3	Social Media Presence Assessment
4	Initiatives Undertaken During Internship
5	Agency Partnership – The Fourth Axis
6	Porter's Five Forces Analysis – The Fourth Axis
7	Analytics Reports
8	Key Insights & Challenges
9	Strategic Recommendations
10	Conclusion

1. Executive Summary

This report documents the key activities, findings, and strategic recommendations arising from a three-month Social Media Marketing Internship undertaken at The Yellow Submarine, a restaurant business. The internship was completed in partial fulfilment of the PGDM (Marketing) programme at Jagdish Sheth School of Management (JAGSOM), Bangalore, 2024–26 batch.

The primary mandate was to assess and enhance the restaurant's social media presence across Instagram and Facebook, design and execute a community engagement strategy, and conduct a competitive and agency analysis for the partner organisation, The Fourth Axis — a Bengali digital news and culture platform.

Intern	Indranil Majumder
Role	Social Media Marketing Intern
Organisation	The Yellow Submarine (Restaurant)
Agency Partner	The Fourth Axis – Bengali Digital News & Culture Platform
Duration	3 Months 2025
Institution	JAGSOM – PGDM (Marketing), 2024–26 Batch
Platforms Covered	Instagram, Facebook

Key Findings at a Glance:

- Instagram presence exists but lacks consistent feed content; engagement activities were initiated.
- Facebook page was identified as completely inactive — a critical gap in the brand's digital footprint.
- Community engagement strategy (reacting/commenting as brand profile) was designed and initiated.
- Direct messaging outreach to relevant restaurant accounts was executed to build partnerships.
- The Fourth Axis was assessed using Porter's Five Forces, revealing a highly competitive market landscape.
- Analytics reports for both Instagram and Facebook were compiled for The Fourth Axis.
- Concrete recommendations have been formulated to address content gaps and improve brand visibility.

2. Company Overview – The Yellow Submarine

The Yellow Submarine is a restaurant business operating in the food and beverage sector. The brand aims to build a strong community following through its distinctive identity and dining experience. Like many small to mid-sized restaurants, the business recognised social media as a critical channel for customer acquisition, retention, and brand storytelling — yet faced significant challenges in establishing a consistent and impactful digital presence.

The internship engagement was structured around diagnosing these challenges and initiating foundational social media activities that could be scaled over time.

Business Overview

Business Type	Restaurant / Food & Beverage
Social Platforms	Instagram, Facebook
Instagram Handle	@sthe.yellow
Instagram URL	https://www.instagram.com/sthe.yellow
Facebook URL	https://www.facebook.com/share/1bVyeVQABt/
Facebook Status	INACTIVE – No recent posts or activity observed
Target Audience	Food enthusiasts, local community, young urban diners

3. Social Media Presence Assessment

3.1 Instagram – @sthe.yellow

The Yellow Submarine maintains an active Instagram account under the handle @sthe.yellow. While the profile exists and the brand identity is represented, the account displayed notable gaps in content consistency and posting frequency during the internship period.

Metric	Value	Observation
Account Status	Active	Profile is present with basic brand identity setup
Posting Frequency	Irregular	Sparse feed posts during the assessment period
Reels Usage	Underutilised	High-reach format not being leveraged
Stories	Minimal	Inconsistent use of Stories for daily engagement
Hashtag Strategy	Weak	Limited use of niche and location-based hashtags
Location Tagging	Missing	Not tagging location reduces local discoverability
Engagement Rate	Low	Directly attributed to low posting frequency
Bio / CTA	Basic	No clear call-to-action or website link optimised

3.2 Facebook – Current Status

The Yellow Submarine’s Facebook page was found to be in a dormant/inactive state at the time of the internship. No recent posts, updates, or community interactions were identified. This represents one of the most critical gaps in the brand’s digital strategy, as Facebook remains a key platform for restaurant discovery, event promotion, and paid advertising reach in India.

CRITICAL GAP IDENTIFIED: The Facebook page is completely inactive. This severely limits the brand's reach to a large demographic of food-discovery users, and disqualifies the business from running Facebook/Instagram ads through Meta Business Suite without an active page presence.

4. Initiatives Undertaken During Internship

4.1 Community Engagement Strategy

A systematic community engagement strategy was designed and executed using The Yellow Submarine's brand profile on Instagram. The core approach involved proactively engaging with niche-relevant content — including posts by food bloggers, restaurant review pages, local event pages, and culinary influencers — by reacting and leaving thoughtful, brand-appropriate comments.

- Identified and monitored a curated list of niche food, restaurant, and lifestyle accounts on Instagram.
- Engaged authentically using the brand profile — reactions (likes/saves) and comments on relevant posts.
- Targeted content related to dining experiences, restaurant reviews, Bangalore food culture, and culinary trends.
- Ensured brand voice was professional, friendly, and consistent with The Yellow Submarine's identity.
- Tracked accounts engaged with for potential future collaboration or outreach follow-up.

4.2 Direct Outreach – DM Strategy

In parallel with community engagement, a targeted Direct Message (DM) outreach campaign was initiated, reaching out to restaurant companies, food-related accounts, and potential collaboration partners. The objective was to open relationship channels that could yield co-promotional opportunities, UGC (User Generated Content), or cross-platform visibility.

- Researched and shortlisted relevant restaurant and F&B; accounts for outreach.
- Crafted personalised, brand-appropriate DM templates for initial outreach.
- Initiated conversations focused on mutual promotion and community building.
- Documented responses and identified warm leads for follow-up.

4.3 Content Upload Barriers Identified

Despite engagement activities being underway, a significant operational bottleneck was identified: the absence of feed content uploads. The internship surfaced the following barriers to consistent content creation:

- Lack of a defined content calendar or posting schedule from the client's side.
- Absence of ready-to-post visual assets (food photography, ambiance shots, short videos).
- No designated internal resource responsible for content approvals and uploads.
- Client-side delays in providing raw content (images/videos) for editing and posting.
- No established brand guidelines for visual style, tone, or content themes.

5. Agency Partnership – The Fourth Axis

The Fourth Axis (thefourthaxis.in) is a Bengali-language digital news and culture media platform. It covers a wide range of topics including Kolkata and West Bengal affairs, science and technology, arts and culture, sports, health, and lifestyle — all presented in Bengali for a culturally rooted readership.

As an agency partner in this internship, The Fourth Axis provided the context for competitive analysis and analytics reporting. Understanding The Fourth Axis's positioning in the Bengali digital media landscape was essential to developing relevant strategic insights.

Organisation	The Fourth Axis
Website	https://thefourthaxis.in/
Language	Bengali
Content Focus	News, Culture, Science, Kolkata, Sports, Lifestyle
Social – Instagram	https://www.instagram.com/the_fourthaxis/
Social – Facebook	Active Facebook presence (Meta)
Platform	WordPress-based digital publication
Audience	Bengali-speaking readers – India and diaspora

The platform publishes content across multiple verticals including Kolkata Chronicles, Bengal Files, Global Lens , Science Café, Culture Studio, and Sports World — reflecting a comprehensiv editorial agenda aimed at culturally engaged Bengali readers.

6. Porter's Five Forces Analysis – The Fourth Axis

Porter's Five Forces framework was applied to assess the competitive landscape within which The Fourth Axis operates. This analysis provides a structural understanding of the Bengali digital media industry's attractiveness, competitive pressures, and strategic risks.

Porter's Force	Assessment	Key Factors	Intensity
Threat of New Entrants	HIGH	Low barriers; digital-first media startups emerge rapidly. Minimal capital needed for Bengali content production.	High
Bargaining Power of Suppliers	MODERATE	Content creators and journalists hold moderate leverage; quality writers are sought-after but not scarce.	Medium
Bargaining Power of Buyers	HIGH	Readers/audiences switch freely between platforms. Advertisers hold power due to many competing Bengali portals.	High
Threat of Substitutes	VERY HIGH	YouTube, Facebook Reels, WhatsApp forwards, and mainstream print media (Anandabazar, Ei Samay) are strong substitutes.	Very High
Competitive Rivalry	HIGH	Intense competition from established Bengali digital portals and mainstream newspapers with digital editions.	High

Strategic Implication

The overall competitive intensity for The Fourth Axis is High. The platform operates in a crowded Bengali digital media space where audience attention is fragmented across platforms (Instagram, Facebook, YouTube, WhatsApp). The primary strategic imperative is differentiation through depth of content, cultural authenticity, and community engagement — areas where niche digital platforms can outperform larger, less specialised competitors.

- Invest in original investigative journalism and long-form content to differentiate from aggregator sites.
- Build a loyal subscriber/newsletter base to reduce dependence on algorithmic reach.
- Leverage social media (especially YouTube and Instagram Reels) to convert passive readers to engaged followers.
- Explore brand partnerships with Bengali cultural institutions and events for revenue diversification.

7. Analytics Reports – The Fourth Axis

7.1 Facebook Analytics Report

The following analytics assessment is based on observable Facebook performance indicators for The Fourth Axis during the internship period. Data was gathered through Meta Business Suite observations and manual tracking.

Metric	Value	Observation
Page Status	Active	Regular posting activity observed on Facebook page
Post Frequency	3–5 posts/week	Moderate consistency; potential to increase for algorithm benefit
Content Types	Articles & Links	Primarily article links; limited use of native video/Reels
Engagement Rate	Low–Moderate	Link posts typically underperform vs. native video and image posts
Reach	Organic – Limited	Limited without paid boost; audience growth relies on shares
Comments & Reactions	Moderate	Some audience interaction; reply rate could be improved
Follower Growth	Gradual	Slow organic follower growth in competitive media space
Ad Activity	Not observed	No active paid promotion identified during internship period
Stories Usage	Minimal	Stories format underutilised for news teasers and updates
CTA Effectiveness	Low	Limited click-through from Facebook posts to website

7.2 Instagram Analytics Report

The Instagram analytics for The Fourth Axis reflect a platform with a growing content strategy, though several optimisation opportunities remain. Assessment is based on public profile metrics and engagement observations.

Metric	Value	Observation
Account Handle	@the_fourthaxis	Active Instagram presence established
Account Status	Active	Regular content uploads observed
Content Format	Image Cards & Reels	Mix of static image posts and short video content
Posting Frequency	3–4 posts/week	Consistent but could benefit from higher frequency in trending periods

Reels Performance	Moderate	Reels generating higher reach than static posts
Hashtag Strategy	Moderate	Bengali content hashtags used; could be more niche-targeted
Story Engagement	Low–Moderate	Stories used for reposts; interactive stories (polls, Q&A;) underused
Bio Optimisation	Adequate	Profile bio present; link-in-bio could be a multi-link tool
Audience Demographics	Bengali-speaking	Core audience aligns with platform's editorial language and focus
Engagement Rate	Moderate	Good relative to follower size; quality over quantity approach
Follower Growth	Steady	Gradual organic growth; no viral moments observed during period
Collaboration / Tags	Limited	Opportunities for journalist/writer tagging and co-posts not fully utilised

8. Key Insights & Challenges

Primary Challenge: Absence of Feed Content

The most significant impediment to The Yellow Submarine's social media growth was the complete absence of regular feed content uploads. Despite engagement activities being carried out actively, the brand's Instagram feed lacked new posts, creating a disconnect between engagement efforts and visible brand presence. Users who visited the profile following engagement interactions encountered an inactive feed — severely undermining credibility.

Facebook's Dormant Status – A Critical Gap

The Facebook page's complete inactivity represents a missed opportunity of significant magnitude. Facebook remains the largest social media platform by active users in India, particularly among the 25–45 age demographic that constitutes a core restaurant customer base. A dormant page also prevents the brand from running Meta-powered advertising across both Instagram and Facebook — a critical limitation for any growth strategy.

Disconnect Between Engagement & Content Creation

The internship revealed a structural challenge common to small restaurant businesses: engagement activities (community interaction, DM outreach) were being executed, but without a content creation pipeline to support them. Social media algorithms reward accounts that post consistently — without feed content, engagement efforts yield diminishing returns as there is no content to drive users towards.

Competitive Pressure on The Fourth Axis

The Porter's Five Forces analysis confirmed that The Fourth Axis operates in an intensely competitive Bengali digital media space. The threat from substitutes (YouTube, WhatsApp, mainstream print media's digital editions) and new entrants (low-barrier Bengali content creators) requires a clear differentiation and community-building strategy to maintain and grow readership.

9. Strategic Recommendations

Based on the findings of the internship, the following prioritised recommendations are proposed for The Yellow Submarine to build a sustainable and high-impact social media presence:

Priority	Recommendation	Expected Impact	Timeline
1 – Critical	Activate content upload pipeline for Instagram feed	Establish brand credibility and discoverability	Week 1–2
2 – Critical	Revive Facebook page with weekly posts	Re-engage dormant followers; improve ad reach eligibility	Week 1–4
3 – High	Develop a content calendar (3–4 posts/week)	Consistency builds algorithm trust and audience retention	Month 1
4 – High	Launch Instagram Reels showcasing food & ambiance	Higher organic reach; Reels prioritized by Instagram algorithm	Month 1–2
5 – Medium	Convert DM outreach leads into collaborations	Leverage existing relationship-building for UGC and co-promotions	Month 2
6 – Medium	Run targeted Facebook & Instagram ads	Boost visibility for promotions, events, offers	Month 2–3
7 – Ongoing	Monthly analytics review using Meta Business Suite	Data-driven content decisions; measure ROI	Ongoing

Implementation Approach

The recommendations are structured as a phased approach — addressing critical gaps first (content and Facebook revival), followed by growth initiatives (Reels, ads, collaborations), and sustaining long-term momentum through analytics-driven decision making. A dedicated social media manager or agency retainer is strongly recommended to execute this roadmap effectively.

10. Conclusion

This three-month internship at The Yellow Submarine as a Social Media Marketing Intern provided an immersive and practical learning experience in the field of digital marketing for the restaurant industry. The engagement offered first-hand exposure to the real-world challenges that small businesses face in establishing and maintaining a competitive social media presence.

The key learnings from this internship span both strategic and executional dimensions of social media marketing. From a strategic perspective, the internship underscored the critical importance of a holistic digital strategy — one that integrates content creation, community engagement, and platform-specific optimisation into a cohesive and consistent plan. The identification of Facebook's dormancy and the content upload gap as primary obstacles demonstrated that social media success is not merely about activity, but about visible, value-adding presence.

From an executional standpoint, the experience of designing and implementing a community engagement strategy, conducting direct outreach, and producing analytics and competitive analysis reports developed practical skills in social media management, brand communication, and data interpretation — competencies directly aligned with a career in Marketing.

The competitive analysis of The Fourth Axis through Porter's Five Forces provided additional exposure to the digital media industry and sharpened the ability to translate analytical frameworks into actionable business insights.

The recommendations outlined in this report — if implemented systematically — have the potential to transform The Yellow Submarine's social media presence from fragmented engagement to a coherent, content-rich, and conversion-oriented digital brand. The groundwork laid during this internship provides a strong foundation for the next phase of the brand's social media journey.

Submitted by	Indranil Majumder
Role	Social Media Marketing Intern
Institution	JAGSOM – Jagdish Sheth School of Management, Bangalore
Programme	PGDM (Marketing), 2024–26 Batch